The Scandinavian Styrbjörn was born in Dublin and trained at Verdi. He returned home to protect his birth-family after hearing about the English invasion. He need not have worried; his family was in no immediate danger. Realizing that he loved his homeland, Styrbjörn petitioned Cliffheart for membership and was accepted. Living at the back of the ráth, Styrbjörn makes magical items for his sodales. He readily accepts commissions from other Irish magi.

- Dislikes his role as Praeco but serves out of duty.
- Annoyed by every case he has to consider.
